

COLLEGIATE DIRECTOR QUICK GUIDE

director of chapter property

All chapter sizes should have a director of house management or a director of chapter property. The director of chapter property exists when the chapter is a member of the Fraternity Management Corporation (FMC) and is typically unhoused. This position replaces the director of house management for housed chapters that are part of FMC. They report to the vice president: finance and serve on the joint chapter management team (JCMT). Depending on chapter size and structure, the director of chapter property oversees a chapter operations committee.

DIVE DEEPER

- What is FMC? FMC supports chapters that currently do not have a Delta Gamma-owned house, which allows them to obtain the resources they need to succeed. Some FMC chapters have a facility, whether it is a suite, room or university-owned house.
- Make sure you communicate the live-in expectations and benefits to members early and often, if applicable.
- Questions? Email your chapter's Regional Housing Specialist (RHS). Their contact info is in Anchorbase.
